

TENANCY AGREEMENT

[NAME OF COUNCIL]

This tenancy agreement sets out your rights and responsibilities as a tenant of [Name of Council]. The Council operates two types of tenancies – an Introductory Tenancy and a Secure Tenancy. If you have been granted an Introductory Tenancy, it will be indicated in Section 2 of this Agreement.

An Introductory Tenant has fewer legal rights than a secure tenant. If you are an Introductory Tenant, there will be a 12-month trial period during which you must demonstrate to the Council that you are responsible enough to keep your Council home. You must (i) look after the home, (ii) pay your rent on time, and (iii) not create a disturbance, harass or cause a nuisance to neighbours. If you fail to abide by the conditions or break any of the rules contained in this Agreement, the Council will apply to the Court to have you evicted from the Property. However, if you prove to the Council's satisfaction that you are a responsible tenant, you will automatically become a Secure Tenant on the date set out in this Agreement.

If you become a Secure Tenant, you will have the full rights and obligations contained in the Housing Act 1985, although you must continue to behave responsibly and keep the rules in this Agreement.

Section 2 – Introductory Tenancy

Is the tenancy an Introductory Tenancy?      Yes _____      No _____
(If No, please skip this Section and proceed to Section 3.)

- i) For the first year of your tenancy, beginning on the start date, you will be an Introductory Tenant. As an Introductory Tenant, you have fewer legal rights than a Secure Tenant. You do not have some of the rights contained within this Agreement until you become a Secure Tenant. The rights that introductory tenancies do not have are set out in the part of the Agreement under the heading "Secure Tenants Only".
- ii) The first year of your Introductory Tenancy represents a trial period. After the first year, the tenancy will convert to a Secure Tenancy, unless during the Introductory Tenancy period you or any person living with or visiting you has broken the conditions of the tenancy, in which case the Council may take steps to evict you and repossess the Property.
- iii) If the Council decides to take legal action against your tenancy, you will receive a Notice of Proceedings for Possession.
